

Pulitzer Prizes Awarded for Fraud Exposes

No Presentations Made In Fiction, Drama And Music

NEW YORK (AP)—The 1964 Pulitzer Prizes in journalism have been won for newspaper exposes of fraud and corruption, the story of success in solving racial problems, the coverage of President John F. Kennedy's assassination, and the war in South Viet Nam.

For the first time since the prizes were established in 1917, awards Monday were omitted in fiction, drama and music. No work in those three fields was deemed worthy of being honored.

The St. Petersburg (Fla.) Times received the Pulitzer gold medal for public service. The newspaper's year-long investigation of the Florida Turnpike Authority uncovered widespread illegal acts and reckless spending of public funds. The stories resulted in a major reorganization of Florida's road construction program.

Local Reporting Winner

Norman C. Miller, 30, of the Wall Street Journal, won the general prize for local reporting for his thorough account of a multimillion-dollar swindle in the bankruptcy of the Allied Crude Vegetable Oil and Refining Corp. in New Jersey.

The prize for local investigative reporting was shared by a three-man team on the Philadelphia Bulletin — reporters James V. Magee, 50, Albert V. Gaudiosi, 40, and photographer Frederick A. Meyer, 43. They were cited for their expose of police racket operations with police collusion in South Philadelphia. It resulted in 18 dismissals and suspensions from the police department.

The international reporting prize was shared by two American correspondents who reported the war in South Viet Nam and the overthrow of the Diem regime—Malcolm W. Browne, 32, of The Associated Press, and David Halberstam, 29, of the New York Times.

Has Won 29 Prizes

The Times has won 29 prizes and The AP 19 since the awards were established by the late Joseph Pulitzer, publisher of the New York World and St. Louis Post-Dispatch, who died in 1911. Editorial writing, including attacks on corruption, won a prize for Hazel Brandon Smith of the weekly Lexington (Miss.) Advertiser. The award cited "steadfast adherence to her editorial duty in the face of great pressure and opposition."

Three Injured In Mishaps on City Streets

Two area teen-age girls and a 61-year-old Alliance woman were injured in four mishaps on city streets Monday. Two drivers were arrested.

Cheryl L. Whinery, 18, of RD 4, Lisbon, and Brenda Goodwin, 17, of RD 2 Salem, were treated and released at Central Clinic for facial and other minor injuries after a mishap at 6:24 p.m.

Police said Miss Whinery was driving north when she struck the rear of a parked auto owned by Raymond Yeager of 836 Newgarden Ave., which was parked in front of his home. The parked auto was pushed 10 feet. Miss Whinery was cited for reckless operation. Miss Goodwin was a passenger in her car.

Mrs. Jessie Obney of Alliance received minor injuries to her hand when the auto in which she was riding struck the rear of a truck at 11:01 p.m. on E. State St. at the intersection of Lundy Ave.

Police said the auto, operated by William R. Obney, 23, also of Alliance, was unable to slow down in time to avoid hitting the truck, which was traveling east on State St.

Obney was cited for failure to stop in the assured clear distance. Mrs. Obney was treated by a physician.

Cuba Attack?

Rumors of New Thrust Aired

WASHINGTON (AP)—Rumors are flying once again among Cuban exiles that new efforts will be made soon to topple Cuba's Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

These reports, increasingly persistent both in Washington and in Miami, say the Castro Communist regime soon may find itself under terrorist and sabotage attacks both from within Cuba and from without.

The exiles say the outside groups will come from areas other than the United States. Such a move, they explain, would avoid international complications for Washington as well as interference by U.S. planes and ships with such raiding parties.

U.S. officials appeared surprised when asked about the rumors. They indicated they had no information whatever about any such plans by the exiles, although they said they had read recently a statement by one Cuban exile leader, Manolo Ray, now living in Puerto Rico, that he and other leaders will be fighting inside Cuba by May 20.

The only major organized effort to overthrow the Castro government came in April 1961, when Cuban exiles, with U.S. help, failed in a sea and land attack against the Castro forces at the Bay of Pigs.

The exiles say a different type operation — much smaller than the Bay of Pigs in some ways, U.S. officials appeared surprised when asked about the rumors. They indicated they had no information whatever about any such plans by the exiles, although they said they had read recently a statement by one Cuban exile leader, Manolo Ray, now living in Puerto Rico, that he and other leaders will be fighting inside Cuba by May 20.

LBJ Asks Labor Hold Wage Line

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson, concerned lest a prosperous economy breed inflation, has urged labor leaders to help hold the wage-price line by adhering to "sensible and fair" government guideposts for wage settlements.

Speaking to 139 union chiefs and their wives at a White House dinner Monday night, Johnson—as he did at a similar gathering of industrialists last week — dangled the carrot of "another tax cut in a few years" if the economy keeps expanding.

But he warned: "We surely do not want this promise of progress to be threatened by inflation." Some of the union leaders already have announced they would ignore the guideposts in negotiations this year and Johnson lectured them on the possible hazards in a growing economy.

"As demand increases and unemployment falls, managers will be tempted to raise prices — in spite of the already high profits and continuing excess capacity — and unions will be tempted to force wages up faster than productivity, in spite of already high wages and continuing excessive unemployment," Johnson said.

He said he knew one side is inclined to blame the other for irresponsibility but he declared: "I do not believe labor or business wants a renewed wage-price spiral any more than Barry Goldwater wants to run on the same ticket with Nelson Rockefeller."

"For such a spiral steals savings—eats away at real wages—bleeds the meager income of our older citizens—gives orders and jobs to foreign competitors—and undermines the soundness of the dollar."

Johnson faced a difficult task in trying to convince the union

BTEA Files Labor Charge

Illegal Agreement Cited In Complaint

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Building Trades Employers Association (BTEA) has gone to the National Labor Relations Board with a complaint that another employer group concluded an "illegal sweetheart" agreement with striking bricklayers Local 5.

The bricklayers are trying to win a better contract than the BTEA gave the Building Trades Council (BTC) last Thursday. That agreement, affecting a dozen unions, provided 75-cent hourly wage increases over a three-year period and was expected to set a pattern for the industry in this area.

However, the bricklayers Plumbers Local 55 and Pipefitters Local 120 demanded more money and went on strike. None of the three is represented by the BTC.

The BTEA named the Northern Ohio Mason Contractors Association (NOMCA) in its NLRB complaint. NOMCA gave the bricklayers increases of $1.05 an hour over a three-year period in an agreement reached

Woman Is Injured In 3-Car Mishap

An 88-year-old Mahoning County woman motorist suffered a hand injury in a crash of three cars Monday at 2:45 p.m. at the intersection of Turner Rd. and Route 18 in West Austintown.

Hurt was Mrs. Rose O'Rourke of Youngstown whose car and one operated by Mary Jane Nile, 20, of Alliance and Joyce Maloletski, 39, of Youngstown were involved in the traffic mix-up.

Mrs. O'Rourke was cited for failing to yield the right of way.

The Canfield post of the State Highway Patrol said the elderly woman was going north on Turner Rd. and crossed Route 18 into the path of Miss Nile's westbound car. Mrs. O'Rourke's car spun around and struck Mrs. Maloletski's auto stopped at a stop sign.

Applicants for Beaver Post Interviewed

Three candidates for the post of executive head of Beaver Local School District, one of the state's largest in area, were interviewed by the Board of Education as part of regular business Monday night.

The successful applicant will replace Dr. George Van Horne, who will leave June 30 for a position as head of the Department of Education at Geneva College in Beaver Falls. He has been the only executive head since Beaver Local was organized in 1955.

Applications for the position will be taken until June 1. The board expects to name the head soon thereafter, Dr. Van Horne said.

One of the candidates being considered for the job is Roy Cashdollar, who has been high school principal the past year.

In other action the board authorized payments of bonds and coupons which come due June 1 in the amount of $20,788, $6,000 of which is on bond retirement and the balance, interest.

Extra maintenance help was employed for the rest of the spring and summer. Jim Butler, local bus driver, will work a half day from now until the close of school then work a full day through the summer.

The board entered into a contract with the Leetonia Type-writer Co., operated by Jack Beilhart, to clean all machines in the school district at a cost

Primaries Being Held Today In Six States

Election Spotlight Focuses on Ohio, Indiana Contests

WASHINGTON (AP)—A foray into Indiana by segregationist Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace and the presence on Ohio's ballot of the famous names Taft and Glenn headlined primary elections today in six states and the District of Columbia.

In Indiana, Gov. Matthew E. Welsh—a stand-in for President Johnson—sought to blunt the impact of Wallace, who polled 33 per cent of Democratic primary votes in his first Northern bid in Wisconsin last month.

Wallace based his appeal on states rights and opposition to the Johnson administration's civil rights bill. But home-state opposition to a sales tax enacted during Welsh's administration was also expected to play a part in boosting Wallace's total.

Taft Is Favored

In Ohio, Rep. Robert Taft Jr.—son of the late Sen. Robert A. Taft—was favored over conservative Secretary of State Ted W. Brown for the Republican senatorial nomination. Taft's House vote for the civil rights measure was strongly opposed by Brown.

On the Democratic side, Sen. Stephen M. Young, 75, faced an uncertain challenge from supporters of astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. Glenn, the first American to orbit the earth, withdrew last month because of a head injury.

But his name remained on the ballot, and some of his backers, convinced he is the only Democrat who can win in November, hoped to propel him back into the race by surprising Young.

Chief interest in other states centered on a Democratic gubernatorial fight in Florida, a sharp battle for Senate nominations in Oklahoma and the issue of unplugged presidential electors in Alabama.

No contests of national significance were on the ballot in either New Mexico or the District of Columbia.

The Welsh-Wallace battle in Indiana—three minor candidates were also entered — overshadowed a GOP primary race between Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen and two minor candidates. Goldwater, leading the GOP delegate race with 209 of the 655 needed for the presidential nomination, was ratcheting a cinch to pick up Indiana's 32 national convention votes.

Democratic and Republican leaders forecast record half-million voter turnouts for each primary. Welsh supporters prepared to challenge known Republicans who tried to vote in the Democratic primary. Under Indiana law, primary voters are required to pledge support to the party in the general election.

Wallace wound up his campaign, in which he faced jeering pickets and hecklers but also drew applause, with an appeal Monday to the Indianapolis Service Club. He repeated his belief that "if I get any significant vote we're going to knock the eye teeth out of the liberals in both parties."

In a news conference, Welsh accused Wallace of "begging for a crossover vote (from Republicans)" and said the Alabamian "solicits support even from the

A list of 73 seniors, an increase of six over last year, was approved for graduation May 28 and the school architect was instructed to consider keeping the school building program within the present school property when the United Local Board of Education met Monday at the school.

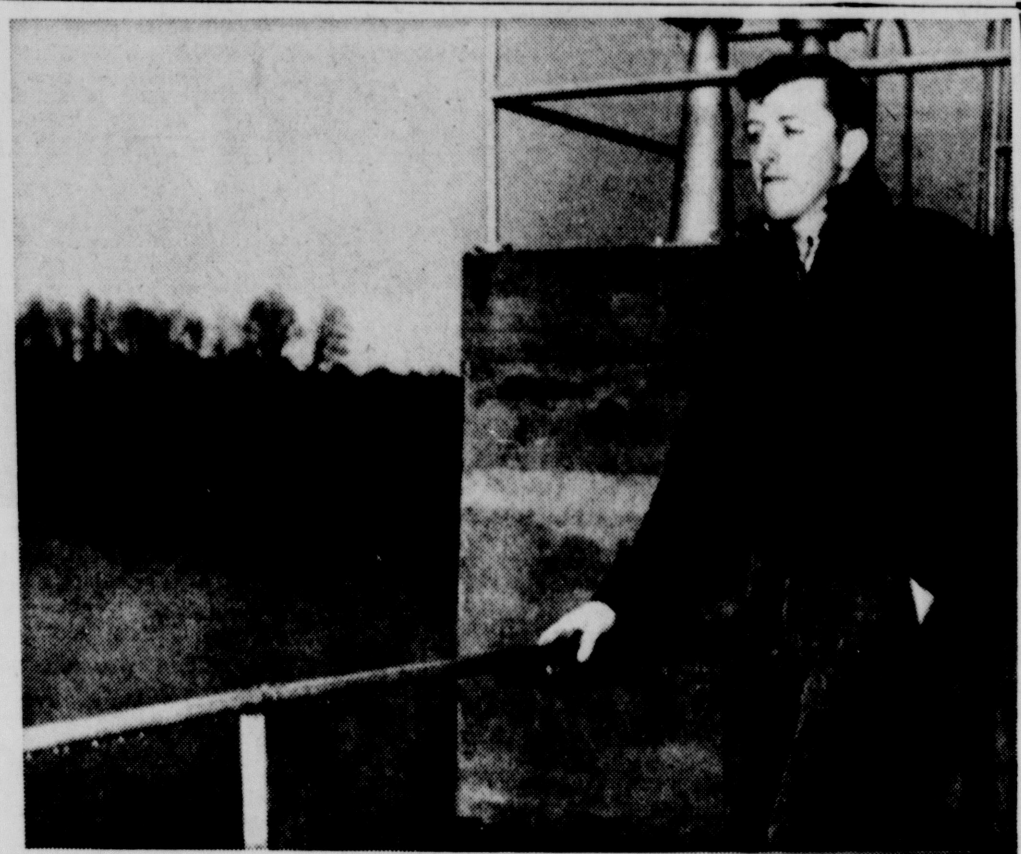

Dates of May 24 for baccalaureate and May 28 for commencement were also approved. Smith, Buchanan and Smith, school architects, were represented at the meeting and were asked to consider sites on the existing school land in planning for a new high school building because of the apparent lack of availability of additional area directly to the north of the school property.

Robert Myers, clerk, was authorized to contact Ford and International dealers in regard to purchase of two new buses. At present, the bus fleet is composed of an equal number of the two kinds of buses.

The purchase of two additional 20-foot tables and benches for the cafeteria was approved in order to be able to use the facilities of the multi-purpose room for physical education

Stray Into Area at Guantanamo

5 U.S. Sailors Die In Mine Field Blast

By The Associated Press

One of the five American sailors killed last Saturday in a mine field explosion on the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, was 19 years old that day.

He was Richard Garrett of Oceanside, N.Y., who enlisted in the Navy soon after he turned 17.

And Mrs. Charles C. Knight whose son, Steven, was another victim of the fatal blast, said sadly: "He was a normal boy who just liked to live."

All five seamen were on liberty from the Boxer, an amphibious assault vessel.

Steven, who would have been 20 years old in August, had been in the Navy since September last year. He was a native of Providence, R.I., but had lived with his parents, three brothers and one sister in Cranston, R.I., for 10 years.

Another victim, Arthur H. Orr, 21, is survived by his widow, Wanda, also 21, and their 2-year-old son, Reggie. Both live in Greenville, S.C. with Mrs. Orr's parents.

Orr, whose parents live in Hendersonville, N.C., would have completed his four-year enlistment in late July. He had been home on leave a week ago.

Henry J. Pazdan Jr., 19, also killed, lived in Trenton, N.J. Young Pazdan decided to join the Navy when he was not yet 18, and his parents had to consent.

Before his ship sailed for Guantanamo Bay, Henry told his parents in a telephone conversation he looked forward to being discharged early next year.

A fourth victim, David N. Pyle, 19, lived with his parents in Crofton, Ky. Forrest Pyle, 60, the youth's father who has a 117-acre tobacco predicted warm and sunny spring sky to give an uncertain verdict on the future political fortunes of Rep. Robert Taft Jr. and former astronaut John H. Glenn Jr.

About 1,400,000 citizens were expected to cast their ballots in the period from 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m. est., on nomination contests that would set the stage for a climatic senatorial battle in November.

The election of presidential nominating delegates for both parties was cut and dried. Ohio Democrats would give their 99 convention votes to President Johnson under a stand-in arrangement.

The 58-vote Republican delegation would be designated to vote on the first ballot for Gov. James A. Rhodes, as a favorite son. But it was so stacked with supporters of Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., that there was no certainty it would not break apart even on the initial ballot if the Arizona senator showed expected strength.

For Taft, who might succeed his famous father, Sen. Robert A. Taft, as a potential future GOP presidential aspirant, the campaigning against Secretary

Salem Senior High School and the middle-aged Junior High will take on a new perspective with the accent on flexibility if the plan offered by East Liverpool architect Robert Beatty is converted to stone and steel reality.

Beatty breezily swept over a fistful of blueprints for tentative construction at the Senior High and renovation of the junior high for the benefit of a handful of citizens Monday night. The turnout was disappointing in light of the importance of the proposal to Salem parents and taxpayers.

The changes as advanced by the administration, Board of Education and Beatty would cost between $587,078 and $811,481, depending upon which of several plans the board finally adopts before placing the crucial bond issue on the ballot next November. The lesser sum would be for a bare minimum, the building changes only. The dearest plan would encompass a broader scope of construction, equipment and grounds improvements.

The board has not committed itself to any one plan, while it feels out public sympathy for the proposals via public meetings and word-of-mouth.

Atty. Bryce Kendall, vice president and in charge of board public relations, told the two dozen present, "We need your ideas in getting the best possible educational system in Salem." He asked residents to

9 Americans Among Victims Near Saigon

Huge Transport Bursts Into Flames Soon After Takeoff

TAN HIEP, South Viet Nam (AP)—A big U.S. Army Caribou transport plane burst into flames a few seconds after taking off today and crashed south of Saigon. It was the worst American military air disaster in Viet Nam.

All 15 persons aboard — nine Americans and six Vietnamese military personnel—were killed. The crash occurred 25 miles southwest of Saigon. The plane had taken off from the Tan Hiep military airfield bound for the South Viet Nam capital.

Two American helicopters arrived at the scene two minutes after the crash. Others from Tan Hiep followed quickly. It was too late to help those aboard the plane.

Thrown From Wreckage

Eight bodies were thrown from the blazing wreckage into the rock-hard rice field beside a Vietnamese village. The helicopter crews sprayed the bodies with fire extinguishers and dragged them to the edge of the field.

The other bodies were pulled from the charred wreckage. One of the pilots had to be cut from his seat.

Witnesses at Tan Hiep said the twin-engine Caribou's left engine was smoking as it took off and the smoke thickened as the plane rose. The control tower told the pilot the engine was on fire.

"He seemed to get control of the fire for a moment," a witness said, "and appeared to have feathered his engines, probably with his carbon dioxide containers. The plane seemed to wheel around, got up to about 100 feet and then plunged down over the treeline two miles away with the engine blazing again."

Another American at the field commented: "When you're at that height and trouble happens there is nothing much you can do."

Viet Cong snipers have shot at planes landing and taking off at Tan Hiep, but American officers at the field said there was no reason to believe Communist bullets had hit the Caribou.

"Apparently it was a mechanical failure," one officer said. Five American visitors from Clark Air Force Base, in the Philippines, would have been aboard the plane if the pilot had not been impatient to take off.

M. Sgt. James Tucker of Gainesville, Ga., said he and the other four soldiers were racing across the airstrip to get the plane for Saigon. They nearly reached it, but the pilot impatiently waved them away.

The Caribou is a twin-engine, Canadian-made aircraft designed to provide rapid mobility for troops, equipment and supplies in forward battle areas. It can carry 32 fully equipped soldiers.

In Saigon, meanwhile, Vietnamese taxi drivers threatened a "drive on" against the U.S. Embassy because of the fatal shooting of two Vietnamese taxi drivers. The shootings were blamed on Americans.

There have been no arrests. The second driver was shot with a pistol on a Saigon street shortly after midnight.

A Vietnamese policeman and a civilian claimed they saw the shooting and that an English-speaking man, probably an American, was involved.

U.S. sources said that following the second killing, the drivers' union met and decided to launch a massive "drive on" around the American Embassy. Increased police patrols were moved into the area.

Designed to Abolish Segregation

Rights Policy Adopted
By Methodist Church

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The Methodist Church, after spirited debate, has adopted a sweeping policy on civil rights designed to persuade Methodists to abolish racial segregation in their churches and in communities in general.

Delegates to a worldwide General Conference of the Methodist Church approved the policy by a show of hands Monday night.

The policy is embodied in a report by the Committee on Christian Social Concerns. It is now church policy but is not church law.

This means that the policy cannot be enforced by such measures as expulsion or censure.

Some of the highlights of the policy are:

—Pastors and church officials are to open their churches to persons of all races.

—Methodist bodies, organizations and individual Methodists are to use their influence to secure fair employment practices and non-segregated services in the corporations in which they hold investments.

—Equal rights should be provided for voting, law enforcement, education, employment, housing, and public accommodations.

—Elimination of racial segregation, including de facto segregation, in all public and Methodist schools.

The term "civil disobedience" was omitted from a substitute paragraph before the report came to a vote before about 900 delegates.

The original version would have condoned civil disobedience in "rare instances where legal recourse is unavailable." The substitute paragraph read in part:

"In some instances, where legal recourse is unavailable or inadequate for redress of grievances from laws or their application that, on their face, are unjust or immoral, the Christian conscience will obey God rather than man."

The chairman of the commission which drafted the report, Harold A. Bosley of New York City, told the conference that the substitute portion was not a weaker version.

"We do not intend to give a single inch in endorsing the principle of civil disobedience."

The adoption of the policy came as the conference entered its second week in Pittsburgh. The conference, which meets every four years, is the supreme policy-making body in the church.

Burger Chef to Open Here June 1

A Burger Chef drive-in restaurant is under construction on W. State St., to be operated by ALG Corporation, of which James G. Aldom is president.

A June 1 opening is planned. The "functionally modern" 37 by 50-foot building will have a parking area to accommodate 60 cars. The Frank Valani Construction Co. of Youngstown is erecting the building where three old houses once stood.

Aldom said the new facilities will represent a $75,000 investment and that local people will be employed. George Roher of Salem will supervise the drive-in, along with one opened last winter on Mahoning Ave. in Youngstown.

Burger Chef is a national hamburger chain operating with local franchises.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Ann, Honey, we read your great little column every day, Doll, and we believe your advice is generally sound, often helpful and sometimes, Cupcake, it is downright hilarious.

However, Toots, your adorable little cutesy-wootsy names for those who write to you are a bit much.

So, Babe, will you kindly cut out the chummy little handles? The Buddy-Boy approach to a person who may be twice your age detracts from your otherwise sensible writing — and you should know it, Sweetie.

We sincerely hope you will accept this criticism in the spirit of friendship, since this is the way it is intended. Buttercup — SUGAR AND SPICE.

Dear S and S: Thanks. I'll watch it, Lambie Pie.

Charity Blackmail

Dear Ann: Can you settle an argument I have been having with my wife?

She has asked me to hand over the names of the manufacturers with whom I do business. (I'm the purchasing agent for a fairly large company.) She wants to write letters to these suppliers asking for donations to her pet charity — which, by the way, is a worthy one.

I feel that these solicitations would be improper. She claims other wives do it, and if she doesn't get money out of these manufacturers for her charity, some other wives will get it for their charity.

What is your opinion? — CHICAGO V.P.

Dear Veep: Your wife is going to hate me, but I agree with you. Her letter would add up to blackmail. She knows very well that a supplier is not likely to ignore a request from the wife of a purchasing agent — and that's precisely why she wants the list.

Such requests could backfire and cost you plenty. Example: What if a supplier handed over a nice fat check to your wife's charity and later you discovered that this supplier's merchandise was inferior or that his prices were out of line? You'd find yourself in a nice box.

Don't allow her to put you under obligation to your suppliers because she wants to make a dazzling showing as a fund raiser.

Open-Door Policy

Dear Ann: Now that summer is almost here and the children are running in and out of the house, it's impossible to keep the doors locked. Will you please say something in your column about friends, neighbors and relatives who walk right in?

I have been scared out of my wits by neighbors who appear from nowhere and tap me on the shoulder while I am making a bed or vacuuming a rug. One woman actually goes from room to room looking for me. Yesterday she opened the bathroom door and I was in the tub.

There are times when I hear people knock and I don't want to be bothered, so I pretend not to hear. They walk right in and shout, "Yoo hoo! I know you're home because the door is open."

Please tell me what to do. I am hogtied. — OPEN SESAME.

Dear Open: Keep your door locked. Instruct your children to knock or ring the bell in a special way so you'll know who it is. You can then ignore all other knocks and bell-ringing if you wish to. An open door is an invitation to something far more serious than a bawdy neighbor. Use your head, Lady.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Self-Approval

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Curbstone comments of a Pavement Plator:

Self-approval is one of the greatest keys to successful living.

To enjoy life more, learn to pat yourself on the back when you deserve it. The chances are you deserve it more often than you realize.

We are all familiar with the big bore who can talk only of his own aims, activities and achievements. If something did not happen to him, he feels it's a waste of time to bring it up. Conversation for him is usually just one long session of bragging.

Such a person is an example of egotism become rampant. He therefore assumes a comic quality, as most exaggerated things do, and we tell ourselves when not in his presence, "I'm glad I'm not like that one. He's really in love with himself."

But there is this to say on his behalf: He may bore others to death, but he won't bore himself to death. He probably will live to a ripe old age, because he has found a sure source of enthusiasm and excitement — himself. And it is through enthusiasm and excitement that we stay young.

There is a worse fate in this world than boring others — and that is to bore ourselves.

Too many of us as we grow older tend to lose our good opinion of ourselves. We let our Goals grow rusty, permit our jobs to become ruts, and abandon in ourselves the faith that alone can sustain us.

For others to like us we must first learn self-approbation — to find some basic satisfaction in who we are and what we are trying to do with our lives. It is surprising how many people lose this essential satisfaction and wind up with an actual sense of self-dislike.

Most of the mental and emotional troubles that beset middle-aged or elderly people arise from a loss in them of a feeling that they are worthwhile members of worthwhile groups engaged in worthwhile enterprises.

Time erodes their sense of personal value. Their pursuits come to seem meaningless.

your GAS
furnace pilot
work for you all summer!

For year 'round comfort and convenience, as well as economy, keep the pilot of your Gas heating system lighted during the summer months. You'll find this tiny flame will serve you well. Here's how:

- 1. Longer Life for your Heating Equipment — The small amount of heat from the Gas pilot keeps your heating equipment dry during the summer. This protects the heating system from rust and corrosion, and adds years to the life of your equipment.
- 2. A More Comfortable Basement — Too high humidity, plus too little circulation of air, can make your basement an unpleasant place to work or play in summer. Both these conditions are helped markedly by simply leaving the flame of your Gas furnace pilot burning.
- 3. Heat When You Need It — A few hours' heat, even in summer, often will make your home more comfortable. With your Gas pilot on, you can "turn" up the heat any time it's needed. Convenient for those cool days in late spring and early fall, too!
- 4. You're "All Set" for Fall — Cold weather often strikes unexpectedly in the fall. With your pilot light on, all you need do is to reset your furnace thermostat to heating position. You'll have heat... without delay or inconvenience... when you leave your Gas furnace pilot on in summer.

Here's How To Set Your Thermostat for Summer

Simply move the thermostat to its lowest position. This will keep the heat off, yet leave the Gas pilot on to serve you all summer.

LEETONIA — Leetonia's loftiest young minds were recognized at a scholarship banquet Saturday night with only 19 of the entire high school body invited to the event. The seniors were presented plaques and certificates by Dr. Paul Conrad, president of the Board of Education, in behalf of that group.

Marylou Helt, valedictorian, led the list of 12 top seniors feted. The dandy dozen had to have at least a 3.0 grade average to attend.

Miss Helt, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leland Helt of RD 1, was a notch ahead of Thomas Sanders, salutatorian. Sander's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sanders of 105 Main St., Washingtonville.

Others in order of their scholarship ranking are:

Earl Silvers Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Silvers of RD 1, Leetonia, and recipient of a $500 scholarship.

Ada Mary Edgerton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Edgerton, 735 Columbia St.

Jackie Barrett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Barrett, 369 Pearl St.

Susan Theil Snyder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Theil of 102 N. Vine St., Columbiana, and wife of William Snyder of RD 1, Leetonia.

Cecelia Kalafus, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Kalafus of RD 5, Salem.

George Zepernick, son of Mrs. Jean Zepernick, 3/4 Columbia St.

Brenda Wilhelm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wilhelm, RD 3, Salem.

Roger McElroy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy McElroy, 327 Sommer St.

Charles Walton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Walton of RD 2.

Sharon Westbrook, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Westbrook of RD 1.

Seven underclassmen with outstanding scholastic records were also invited to the banquet.

In attendance with records of 3.5 or better were juniors Michele Riles, Diane Davis and Vicki Snyder; sophomores Alan Bloor and Jonathan Fickes; and freshmen Jack Snyder and Laura Sevenich.

Dr. Terry Wickham, president of Heidelberg College, spoke on "Your Bent — Don't Lose It", urging the high-ranking pupils to take every opportunity to go to college. Superintendent of Schools Victor Wood told the boys and girls that college will be more of a challenge than it was for youth of 19 or 20 years ago when college courses were easier than they are today.

Less Than Half of Eligible Ohio Voters to Cast Ballots

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohioans were giving their answers today to the candidates and issues in the state's Republican and Democratic primaries, but nothing like a record turnout was expected.

Even though splendid cooperation was expected from the weatherman, best estimates were that less than half of Ohio's 3,269,730 eligible voters would cast ballots.

Secretary of State Ted W. Brown predicted the figure would be 1,417,912, including 737,235 Democrats and 661,677 Republicans.

The state's record primary turnout was 1,535,055 in 1952.

Today's voting hours were 6:30 a.m. to 6:30 p.m., Eastern Standard Time, and they applied to all counties—including Daylight Saving Time areas.

Foremost among party nominations to be decided were the Democratic and GOP choices for U. S. senatorial candidates.

Sen. Stephen M. Young, Cleveland Democrat, sought re-nomination on a ballot that also included the name of Lt. Col. John H. Glenn Jr., although the former astronaut officially withdrew because of an injury.

The Republican senatorial contest pitted Rep. Rep. Robert Taft Jr. and Secretary of State Brown.

Other races included nominations by both parties of candidates for the Ohio Supreme Court, Congress — at - large, and state legislature.

Among the issues was Gov. James A. Rhodes' proposed $500 million highway bond issue, for which the governor and his aides have campaigned extensively. The administration predicted solid support for the proposal which carried a "no new taxes" label.

Trial by Jury

By DAVID LAWRENCE

What's the jury trial amendment to the civil rights bill all about? On its face it seems to be a question of whether a person who could be put in jail on a charge of contempt of court should have the right to trial by jury. Would a person prefer to have judgment passed on him by a jury of 12 citizens or by just one individual—a judge?

David Lawrence's comment passed on him by a jury of 12 citizens or by just one individual—a judge?

This is not an easy question to answer. For sometimes a jury is not able to understand the fine points of the law and may make a mistake, whereas a judge who is familiar with all the intricacies of the statutes would presumably do a better job—though often some judges seem to be politically minded.

Basically, the whole controversy arises now in connection with civil rights because of a fear that juries in the South may not administer justice as it should be. The legislation pending in the Senate is designed to cover citizens in all parts of the country and to secure justice for everybody—not just people in one section.

What constitutes contempt? It involves disobedience of an order issued by the court or else misbehavior inside a courtroom. There seems to be universal acceptance of the idea that any disorder inside a courtroom should be punished by the judge without any jury trial. There is a distinct difference of opinion, however, as to what should be done with respect to disobedience of a court order outside the courtroom.

THE ISSUE as it is being debated in congress is a very serious one. It's something that ought to be given many months of deliberation instead of just a few days. It strikes at the root of the American system of justice. The Constitution says plainly in three separate provisions:

1. "The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury."
2. "In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed."
3. "In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved."

THE COURTS arbitrarily have tried to define a crime in different ways. As recently as last year in the proceedings for criminal contempt against Gov. Barnett of Mississippi the Supreme Court by a 5-4 vote decided against the request for a jury trial. Chief Justice Warren and Justices Black, Goldberg and Douglas dissented. In his opinion, Justice Black wrote:

Back Through the Years

(From The News Files)

10 YEARS AGO — The Foremen's Club of the E. W. Bliss Co. held its annual outing at the Sebring Country Club Sunday.

The Salem Hunting Club will meet Thursday, according to Don Cannon, secretary.

25 YEARS AGO — Jack Miskell, of Youngstown, will be the new golf pro when the Salem Country Club begins its 1939 season next week.

Firemen extinguished a blaze

"I think that this doctrine that a judge has inherent power to make himself prosecutor, judge and jury seriously encroaches upon the constitutional right to trial by jury and should be repudiated."

In spite of these views expressed by the "liberal" justices, most of the liberals in the Senate will vote instead to repudiate the words of the Constitution.

There is a popular impression, moreover, that jail sentences are imposed only in the case of criminal contempt, but actually an individual may go to jail in a "civil contempt" case as well.

CRIMINAL CONTEMPT usually results in punishment of the defendant by a fine or imprisonment, in a definite amount and for a definite time. Under the civil rights bill passed by the House, the judge would be able to try a criminal contempt case without a jury and impose sentence in certain instances where the fine was to be $300 or less or where the imprisonment is 45 days or less.

An individual also can be jailed in a civil contempt case. Whether a person is in jail for civil contempt or for criminal contempt, it is just as much a punishment or disgrace. One prominent lawyer wrote to this correspondent the other day:

"It will make little difference to the defendant whether he is in jail on a charge of civil or criminal contempt as long as he is, in fact, in jail. The court can simply leave him there until he complies with its order. Or it can levy a conditional fine which he will have to pay if he does not comply and still be in contempt. Or it can fine him so much a day until he does comply. Or it can do all of these things. These are examples of civil contempt cases where a jury is not available."

"DECISIONS of American courts make it clear that there is no right to trial by jury in civil contempt cases. That will continue to be the law until some statute changes it."

"The jury trial amendment, whatever its form may take, is an illusion as long as it is confined to criminal contempt. If the proponents of the bill want to make a concession, the amendment must include both civil and criminal contempt. This, of course, should not include contempt committed in the immediate presence of the court."

So it's evident that neither side is all wrong nor all right on this issue and that serious consideration should be given to the whole matter because it involves a precedent of far-reaching importance.

It's just one of a number of civil rights measures that are being rushed through Congress because of political pressures and intimidation by threats of violence or street demonstrations.

This is not the proper way to enact legislation dealing with fundamental principles of justice.

Proposition Still Being Tested

The first three months of 1964 constituted the 10th quarter year in which federal revenue has been larger than in the corresponding quarter a year earlier.

This is the key fact to remember when claims are made that the increase this year is because of the tax cut that went into effect March 1.

The only safe statement at present is that the increase is in spite of the tax cut that went into effect March 1. If there had been no tax cut, there probably would have been a revenue increase. Even with a tax cut, there was a revenue increase.

The increase undoubtedly was helped by a rising tide of business confidence in the Johnson administration. There was a curious quirk of psychology visible in this respect. Though the tax cut was proposed by the Kennedy administration, it never was accepted in popular opinion as a confidence-inspiring move until the Johnson administration made gestures of budget-trimming.

From that point on, the proposal picked up support. Whether federal revenue would have continued to rise—in fact, whether the tax cut could have been enacted without a change of administration—is a question that never can be answered.

The dubious proposition of the tax cut is still being tested—that the way to increase revenue is to reduce the rate.

Welcome to Appalachia

Ohio's admittance to "Appalachia," that mythical land of water and treacle created by the federal government to be the first beneficiary of President Johnson's anti-poverty program, was a model of public tact. The President said in his letter to Congress:

"The governor of Ohio has advised me that his state, which was originally tendered an invitation by the Council of Appalachian Governors and the President's Appalachian Regional Commission to join with the other nine states of the region in a joint effort to lift the economy of the area, has decided to participate in the program. It is both appropriate and desirable that those portions of Ohio lying within Appalachia join with the remainder of the region and accordingly the bill I am sending to Congress reflects this."

It was that simple. Ohio's initial allocation of federal funds under the proposed program to turn "Appalachia" into a land of milk and honey will be $90 million. It beats water and treacle.

But admittance could have been complicated, because the administration of Gov. James A. Rhodes had advocated going it alone, instead of lining up for federal funds.

Gov. Rhodes changed his mind, however, after meeting with southeastern Ohio representatives who overwhelmingly favored participation in the federal government's spending program. Milk and honey got the nod.

Who could be expected, after all, to turn down a promise of $90 million with plenty more where that came from?

It's Your Life!

The Salem district's weekend traffic toll of 16 injured should serve as a warning for the many other pleasant, warm days of summer ahead.

The volume of traffic is going to increase on our already-crowded streets and highways.

There will be more splintering impacts of steel and glass and flesh. The inevitable will be more injured, tragic deaths from "avoidable" accidents and repentant reviews of such mistakes as too much speed, reckless operation, failure to stop at an intersection, a lack of courtesy for other drivers, and poor judgment generally.

Motorists who fall into any of these categories ought to "straighten up and drive right!" The life they save may be their own!

Sweet Tuesday

By Truman Twill

Some of the happiest moments of my life have been spent in voting booths. Since I became eligible to vote, I have missed voting so few times I can recall only one — a primary election in which the only issue to be decided was whether manufacturers of oleomargarine could do what manufacturers of butter were doing; namely, color their product yellow.

Unlike people who feel bitter about the American system of self-government because it doesn't work to suit them, I am well-satisfied. I think it works like a charm.

It doesn't always suit me, either, and that's why I think it works like a charm. If self-government began to satisfy any considerable number of us, it would mean something had turned sour.

Feeling satisfied is not what self-government is designed to do. Free people need to be critical and grouchy. They need to be anxious to throw the rascals out.

That's why I have spent so many happy moments in voting booths.

I love to turn out rascals. I'm always anxious.

THIS DOES NOT mean I refuse to recognize merit when I see it. It means only that the privilege of voting NO is the thing I cherish most about my citizenship. Every time I X in a NO vote, I beam with satisfaction.

I have an odd-ball notion about our form of government that adds zest to my negativism.

I think the secret of our success is the way we put our trust in people of demonstrated inferiority.

We habitually vote into public office citizens we wouldn't trust to run a pizza stand.

These are the kind of people who frequently seek public jobs. In this land of opportunity, topnotchers are too busy making money and reputations to fool with official responsibility.

So we deplore this and put second-raters in charge. There are exceptions, of course, but it's the rule.

I THINK it's the secret of our country's amazing success. It keeps government from falling into the hands of citizens accustomed to power and greedy for more.

We have a sample of power-happy men in congressional committee "czars" locked into their jobs by the one-party system in the Solid South. We need to keep this at arm's length.

We do.

We do it by throwing people into office and throwing them out — never letting them feel secure until they have demonstrated they have nothing in mind. Even then, all it takes is a twist of the wrist to throw them out for the heck of it.

Thus do we govern ourselves with an endless procession of mediocrity, always being careful to keep anyone with ambition from becoming entrenched.

By VICTOR RIESEL

There's an angry behind-the-scenes feud between President Johnson and the nation's waterfront labor leaders. He wants them to end their boycott of foreign ships which have made runs to Cuba in the past. They have refused on the principle that those shippers who served Fidel Castro should not be rewarded with the chance to make millions of dollars in American ports.

The President, who believes he can isolate Cuba by convincing foreign shippers they would do better on the world market by ending this trade with the Communists, has been pressuring the waterfront unions to handle such freighters in U.S. ports.

There has been a series of secret meetings between his most intimate advisers and the union leaders — the latest of which ran for over an hour on the afternoon of Tuesday, April 28. This time the President directed McGeorge Bundy, his personal foreign affairs specialist, to meet with such union men as Thomas (Ted) Gleason, head of the Longshoremen, Joseph Curran, National Maritime Union chief and Paul Hall, leader of the Seafarers.

THE PRESIDENT ordered Bundy in because such Cabinet members as Dean Rusk, Luther J. Hodges, Orville Freeman and even Willard Wirtz had failed to move the waterfront workers from their boycott of any ships which had delivered any type of cargo to Communist Cuba.

Also unique about the Tuesday meeting was its location. The union chiefs met with Bundy — and Secretary of Labor Wirtz — in the office of AFL-CIO president George Meany on the eighth floor of the national labor headquarters across the square from the White House. This time the government came to the house of labor.

At the beginning of the discussion Bundy made it clear that Mr. Johnson had asked him to come over and that both of them hoped the union leaders would not let the President down. They then began arguing over the unions' boycott of the Mavrolean shipping interests of London.

THIS COMBINE controls 87 ships sailing under various flags. Of this fleet at least 38 freighters have carried cargo to Castro. A huge quantity of vital supplies was delivered when Castro really needed the tonnage — when his creaky production and transportation systems were badly out of gear.

Finally the Mavrolean people did take nine vessels off the Cuba run. Since it's now U.S. government policy to forgive and take such ships off the American blacklist, the company wants these nine freighters to work U.S. ports. However, the firm still has 29 ocean carriers steaming regularly into Cuba with important cargoes.

Mavrolean says it will take its vessels off the Cuban run as their charters (contracts) for such voyages to the island expire. This means a few will be peeled off each month until February, 1965.

Of course, as the ships are freed from these charters for the Cuban run Mavrolean wants them to be free to pick up cargoes anywhere in the United States.

Bundy told the labor leaders that the ships should be permitted to do this and that the Longshoremen's Association, reflected the attitude of his labor colleagues in the room. He said that his men would not handle such ships because they did not want foreign shipping fleets abandoning the Cuba trade piecemeal. He believed the servicing of Castro by ships of free nations should end all at once.

Gleason asserted bitterly that the foreign shippers would quit the Cuban business only after they had taken the "cream off the trade with the Communist government there." After serving a government he believes into our ports with low wage crews and take business from American shippers and jobs from U.S. seafarers.

As an example he pointed to the Tulse Hill, a British ship operating out of Hong Kong with a Chinese crew. It got itself off

Federal Grants

By BRUCE BLOSSAT

Federal grants-in-aid to state and local governments, amounting now to almost $10 billion a year, are becoming at once more popular and more controversial. A new, little-noticed official report jumps into the fray.

Just a few months ago the federal aid roster was augmented by programs covering vocational education, college facilities, mental health and retardation. The sums involved in these are expected to grow steadily in succeeding years.

AT PRESENT PACE the total may rise to $12 billion or more within a very short span. Small wonder there is concern.

One sign of it is the stir in Congress for some kind of periodic review. The object would be, of course, to chop off or reduce federal aid where it was clear programs either had become self-sustaining at the state-local level, or no longer necessary.

The review idea, pushed by Maine's Sen. Edmund Muskie and some others, has developed some Hill support. But scaling down grants-in-aid would be about as popular with some lawmakers as closing down military and naval installations.

NOW WE HEAR from the Advisory Commission on Intergovernmental Relations in another ticklish area:

Should federal grants go in greater flow proportionately to states with above-average needs and below-average financial resources?

About a third of the aid programs enacted in the last decade have made some provision for assistance on this basis. The Social Security Act of the mid-1930s was the first to try it.

The Advisory Commission, in a thoroughgoing report beamed to this question, recommends that this so-called equalization of grants be applied in those programs specifically related to national policy goals, such as the U.S. government blacklist and then put into the port of Baltimore on Jan. 21 to pick up grain for London. The Longshoremen have been boycotting the ship since Jan. 21. She still is in Baltimore.

BUNDY REPLIED with the assertion that the President had made a pledge to foreign shippers and could not be let down. At this point big Joe Curran, ever irreverent, retorted: "Will Mr. Johnson give our unemployed sailors jobs as ranch hands on the LBJ ranch?"

The union leaders estimate that more than 2,000 American seamen would lose their employment if the Mvrolean fleet trader with Cuba — moved in on U.S. ports.

"We would be rewarding a shipper who supplied Fidel Castro and also be committing suicide," one labor man said after the meeting. "We would just about wipe out our own merchant fleet if this became policy."

And it may. The unions can be expected to yield if Lyndon Johnson calls them in and says: "The President of the United States wants you to end your boycott of such ships."

general educational uplift, improved health, etc.

But this body, a purely advisory group drawn from all levels of government, suggests at the same time that the "equalizing aim" of grant programs be held to "minimum service levels consistent with" national objectives.

This might be one way, perhaps, to take some of the sting out of the richer states' constant complaint that their heavier tax contributions "carry" the poor states.

THE COMMISSION has a few more bones to pick. It doesn't think aid distributed on an equalization footing ought to be mixed in particular programs with funds handed out in proportion to population or according to some other formula.

And it sees no excuse for allowing rubbery yardsticks in gauging either needs or ability to pay at the state-local level.

Thus it recommends regular review by the involved agencies and departments to test the fitness of "need indexes" in the various grant programs. The obvious aim is to guard against overstatement of need.

The commission further would charge the President with laying groundwork for putting together data of use to the states in improving their fiscal capacity and hence their ability to carry their own load.

In a period dominated by more dramatic issues, there is no particular political sex appeal in these proposals. But they are highly responsible notions from a respected agency which probes the federal-state-local field thoughtfully.

It will be interesting to see how many "economy-minded" lawmakers in Washington grasp these proposals to put grant programs under tighter scrutiny. And how many state governments take up the challenge to improve their own financial resources.

Cuban Ships Dispute

Deming Veterans Honored At Dinner

Nearly 200 present and former employees of the Deming Division, Crane Co. and their guests were in attendance at the annual Awards Banquet held Saturday night at West Branch High School.

John G. Kehrer, Jr., president of the Deming Foremen's Club, was the toastmaster.

Walter F. Deming, general manager, recognized the following former employees who have retired during the past year: (Years of Service with the Co.) Herbert R. Davis, (17); Frank D'Agnone, (22); Nicholas E. Goddard (21); Clarence K. Groff (21); Leland Guy (21); Dewey G. Jensen (20); Harry Lottman (22); Frank C. McCluggage (13); Floyd H. Riley (22); Raymond S. Rohrer (33); Rolland M. Sprowl (41); Norman P. Suggs (36); Rolland F. Webber (41); James M. Wight (34).

John R. Kerr, Jr., plant superintendent, presented awards to the following employees recently completing 40, 25, and 20 years of service, respectively: 40 years of service — Joseph J. Hanzlick, Noble H. Neff, John Sanders, Jr.

25 years of service — Miss Margaret Bryan, Reed B. Calkins, Joseph L. Doyle, Lawrence Hoyle, Howard E. Kerr, Clarence E. Lease, Robert Lora, Howard Pennell, Carl A. Weigand.

20 years of service — Donald H. Beardsley, Paul R. Campaelli, Carl Davis, Clyde Donley, Eugene A. Eoff, Dwight W. Grady, Charles A. Juliano, Joseph M. King, Ernest R. Leonard, Raymond O. Marshall, Charles L. McLaughlin, R. E. Reichenbach, R. Wendell Santee, William G. Shasteen, Fred S. Switzer, Jr.

John Alesi, incoming president, who introduced the Foremen Club Officers for 1964 — 65: Frederick J. Limestahl, vice president; Jack Bertolotto, secretary; Martin Fraundorfer, treasurer; Robert Schuck, chairman; Larry Lottman and William Outland; social committee: Frank J. Marino, chairman; and Howard Kerr and Richard Cook.

Dinner music was furnished by Dorothy Keast, organist. The invocation was given by Louis Weirick.

Following the dinner and presentation of awards, the guests were entertained by the "Ink Spots."

The committee in charge of arrangements was comprised of John G. Kehrer, Jr., John Alesi, Paul D. Hill, Jr., Clifford Ayers, Eugene Hively, John Williams, Jack Bertolotto, Vernon Weingart, James Baxter, and G. William Heddleson.

of State Ted W. Brown for the senatorial nomination, had been an eye-opener.

Taft told a news conference in Cincinnati Monday that he didn't anticipate that Brown would capitalize on the civil rights issue. Taft voted in the House for the measure now pending before the Senate.

Brown denounced it and tried to label Taft as a "liberal" in the apparent belief that this wouldn't go down so well with Ohio's conservative Republicans. The state official also appealed to Goldwater backers to support him. Taft said he hadn't made up his mind about a presidential nominee.

No responsible politician was ready to say in advance that this sort of campaign would be effective against one of Ohio's greatest political names. But there were cautionary notes that a great many white voters in Ohio were disturbed about racial demonstrations and might lodge protest votes with Brown.

The case of the earth-orbiting Glenn was intriguing. Again no responsible politician wanted to say that Glenn, who quit the race after he developed an inner ear infection after a fall in a bathtub, would get more than a substantial vote against 75-year-old incumbent Sen. Stephen M. Young, seeking renomination.

Glenn's name remained on the Democratic ballots, despite his withdrawal and his statement that he would not accept the nomination if it were voted to him.

Deaths Funerals

Peter Perry

LEETONIA — Peter Perry, 91, of 73½ Summit St. died after a brief illness at 1 p. m. Monday in his home.

Born May 16, 1872, in Calabria, Italy, he was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Felis Perrie. He came to America in 1901 and lived in this area since that time.

He formerly worked at the Cherry Valley Furnace and was a member of St. Patrick's Church and of the Order of the Sons of Italy.

He is survived by his wife, Concetta Maruca Perry, whom he married in 1899 in Italy; four daughters, Mrs. Josephine Mercure, Mrs. Angeline Beltempo, and Mrs. Rose Dunlap, all of Leetonia, and Mrs. Mary Costanzo of Salem; five sons, Felix and Michael of Leetonia, Fred of Warren, Eugene of Dayton and Anthony of Salem, 19 grandchildren and 14 great-grandchildren.

Services will be held at 10 a. m. Wednesday at St. Patrick's Church with Rev. Paul Petric officiating. Burial will be in Mt. Calvary Cemetery.

Friends may call at the Woods Funeral Home this evening.

Gerald Syx

MINERVA—Funeral arrangements are pending at the Gotshall-Hutchison Funeral Home for Gerald S. Syx, 53, of 204½ E. Lincoln Way, who was found dead this morning at his home by his wife, Stark County Coroner G. S. Shaheen ruled death due to pneumonia. He had been ill for five days.

Born March 1, 1911, at Enterprise, he was the son of Alonzo and Ella Carsey Syx. A resident of the Minerva-Kensington area since 1928, he was unemployed, having last worked as a truck driver for the Farm Bureau. He was an army veteran of World War II.

Surviving besides his wife, the former Wanda Reynolds, are his father, Canton; two sisters, Mrs. C. W. McClelland of Canton and Mrs. George Ford of Coca Beach, Fla.; and two brothers, Willard of Milford, Conn. and Kenneth of Hanoverton.

BROTHER SUCCUMBS

Services were held today at Tucumcari, New Mexico, for Fred Wachsmith, 74, of that city, brother of Leo Wachsmith and Mrs. Ralph Walker of Salem, who died Saturday in New Mexico.

John Birch Society." Welsh declined to predict the primary results.

In Indiana four years ago, two little-known candidates — also entered today — drew some 20 per cent of the vote against the late John F. Kennedy.

The civil rights issue also hung over the Taft-Brown contest in Ohio. Some Ohio politicians reportedly felt white voters would give a strong protest vote to Brown, a veteran state office-holder whose backers include many supporters of Goldwater for president.

Sen. Young, who celebrated his 75th birthday Monday, remained confident he would be renominated. If he scores an upset, Glenn, who is recovering slowly from the injury suffered in a bathroom fall, would have until Aug. 14 to withdraw.

Ohio Republicans also vote on an unopposed 58-member convention delegation. Pledged on the first ballot to the party's favorite son, Gov. James A. Rhodes, it was heavily weighted with Goldwater supporters.

Combining of County Health Offices Discussed at Lisbon

A proposal to combine all Columbiana County health departments under one commissioner was discussed Monday night in Lisbon Village Hall with Mayor Dean Stockman of Lisbon, chairman of the advisory board of the County Health Department, in charge.

At present none of the four city health departments in the county receives federal aid because none is classified as a health department under federal standards. East Liverpool and Salem get state aid for having part time doctors as health commissioners.

Mayors Merrill Hall of East Liverpool and Dean Cramer of Salem were the only representatives of city health departments attending. Besides Stockman, Mayor Ralph Kennedy of be aggressive in offering suggestions to board members and the administration on the building program now. "After the bond issue is on the ballot, it will be too late," he said.

Beatty's plans add some 22,000 additional square feet of space — about 16 classrooms — to the six-year-old Senior High School to accommodate freshmen who will migrate from the overpopulated Junior High.

Most of the additional space will be provided in two ways: through the construction of new rooms in the present court areas and through the building of an extension northward from the present two-story section.

The plan has been drawn up to provide curricular clusters. Major areas of study such as English, languages, mathematics, commercial courses and science will be knotted together as nearly as possible with teacher offices in those topic areas.

Under the plan, three new classrooms would be added just east of the cafeteria and projecting into nearby courtyard. A math complex of three rooms would close in the now open courtyard north of the library. On the north end of the court yard, a large art room would be finished. At the south end of this patio, the library would be projected to provide about one-third more space than presently. Special education rooms would also be added in this section.

The new second floor construction northward would make more room for typing, bookkeeping, a machine room and a classroom with an external fire escape at the far end. The elevator shaft, never used, would be removed to make more area.

Beatty has proposed converting the choir room into a study hall and the student lounge into an auxiliary classroom, ready for use if need dictates.

The new section in the east-most courtyard would be traversed by a corridor which would be a projection of the Salem School of Technology hallway.

Beatty favors limiting the amount of glass and window area as an economy measure. Some of those present expressed concern over the dearth of natural light and air provided by the architect's plans.

He explained that by using artificial lighting with suitable foot-candles of illumination and ventilating mechanically, the fuel bill, even with the much larger area, would be held to a relatively low level. "The loss of heat through glass is almost three times that through a solid wall," he said.

While no new construction that would change the outward aspect of the Junior High is contemplated, the architects plan is to make better use of available space.

Mrs. Mock Gets Medal From Johnson

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson bestowed the federal aviation Gold Medal Award on 38-year-old Jerrie Mock, the Columbus, Ohio, housewife who was the first woman to fly solo around the world. And he had a lighted birthday cake for her four-year-old daughter, Valerie, at a White House ceremony Monday.

The president honored Mrs. Mock for her "historic and courageous flight," a 29-day record-breaking solo. And, he named her vice chairman of the Women's Aviation Advisory Committee of the FAA, a group composed of outstanding women in aviation.

Rogers Council Acts to Close Old Streets, Alleys

By MRS. LEO JENKINS ROGERS — Village streets and alleys no longer in use will be closed and will revert back to the property owners, according to an agreement reached last night in a meeting of the village Council.

Council, in a lengthy discussion with Solicitor Donald Elliott, agreed to close the thoroughfares, some of which have not been in use for a number of years.

Bills in the amount of $330 were approved by Council.

Albert Starkey, village street commissioner, reported that he is in the process of erecting street signs and that the project will be completed by the end of the month.

Next regular meeting of the village council will be held June 1.

agreement was negotiated "for the purpose of breaking the wage pattern established by the BTEA-BTC joint policy committee." The NOMCA agreement covers about 25 per cent of the bricklayers in Cuyahoga County.

The BTEA filed another unfair labor practices charge against the Ironworkers Local 17, alleging that union is trying to back out of the agreement reached by the BTC and now is trying to win a larger increase.

Some 2,500 bricklayers, plumbers and pipefitters were off the job, but there was no picketing, and other building trades employees continued to work.

The BTEA has said the strike by the three unions could bring construction in the area to a virtual halt within 10 days.

In Youngstown, the striking Carpenters Union, which represents some 3,000 men in Mahoning and Trumbull counties, Ohio, and Mercer County, Pa., meets with employer representatives Wednesday.

Also on strike, but not picketing, in the Youngstown area were the 580 - member Iron Workers Union and Plumbers and Steamfitters Local 87, with 520 members.

Iron workers and glaziers are off the job in an area covering Stark, Tuscarawas, Coshocton, Carroll, Holmes, Ashland, Richland and Wayne counties.

In Akron, Glaziers Local 1152 picketed glass installation shops but not construction sites. Some 8,000 building tradesmen continued working at the building sites pending negotiation of new contracts to replace those that expired last Thursday.

The anti-Castro groups apparently are depending heavily on forces are finding it increasingly disenchanted with the Castro government in Cuba.

Intelligence reports in Latin-American diplomatic circles, however, suggest that the Castro Communist dictatorship has become increasingly powerful as a state police organization, with little chance for sabotage.

Calvin-Davis Nuptials Held In Friends Church

Schefflera and grape ivy formed the background for altar decorations when Miss Carol Ann Calvin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Calvin of 1075 N. Ellsworth Ave., became the bride of Jack B. Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Davis of RD 2, Jeromesville, Saturday at 7:30 p.m. in the sanctuary of the First Friends Church.

Altar vases of white gladioli and mums and cathedral candles in branching candelabra completed the decor as vows were heard by Rev. Harold Winn. Miss Barbara Early was soloist and Mrs. Harold B. Winn presided at the organ.

Escorted by her father down an aisle marked with white satin bows the bride wore a gown of silk organza and Chantilly lace of Edwardian period design. The wide scooped neckline and long sleeves were edged with hand-clipped scalloped lace. A Watteau detachable train graced the controlled bell-shaped skirt, and her veil was held by a crown of pearls and crystals. She carried a Bible arrangement of white roses, stephanotis and baby-breath, centered with a corsage of red roses.

Miss Mary Jane Calvin served her sister as maid of honor. Another sister, Joyce, Miss Sandra Ewing and Miss Charlene Smith were bridesmaids. All attendants wore silk organza floor length gowns with bell-shaped skirts, three-quarter sleeves and headpieces of petal sprays with veiling. The maid of honor wore petal pink and bridesmaids, iris. Their nose-gay bouquets were of sweetpeas and stock florets.

Donald Davis was best man for his brother. Ushering were John Pozenel of Miamisburg, Harold Kibler of Winona, and Lewis Newton of Leetonia.

The mother of the bride appeared in a willow green sheath crepe dress and Mrs. Davis, mother of the bridegroom, wore a blue lace over satin sheath dress. Both complemented their costumes with corsages of roses.

300 at Reception
Three-hundred and fifty guests were registered by Miss Marilyn Stratton at the reception in the church fellowship hall.

The bride's table was centered with a cake encircled with orchid and pink sweet-peas. Serving were Mrs. Richard Calvin, Mrs. Ammon Anderson, Mrs. Wilbur Hofmann, Miss Jane Johnson, Miss Ruth Ann Winn, Mrs. Harold Grove and Mrs. Howard Smith.

From the reception the couple left for a trip to Niagara Falls, for which the bride wore a white sheath dress and corsage from her bouquet. Upon their return they will live at

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: For the last two years you have been telling my wife to use kerosene around the house and I have had to buy it.

Since I buy it by the gallon . . . by the time my wife gets near the bottom of the jug . . . there is sediment or black stuff in it.

To keep from wasting the remaining kerosene in the bottom of the jug I put a paper napkin over the mouth of a small glass jar and make an indentation in the middle with my finger. Then I pour the remaining kerosene through the paper napkin and we have enough kerosene to last until I have time to go out and buy some more.

Now she thinks I'm wonderful! Me too!!

FRED S.

DEAR HELOISE: We have three beds in our home, with blankets and quilts on top of each for the cold winter months. When spring comes around and it starts getting warmer, these blankets are no longer needed.

I found that I could put these blankets under the mattress cover of each bed. They take up no extra storage space in the summer, they are conveniently put out of sight and are out of the way for the remainder of the warm weather.

GLADYS RATKOVICH.

DEAR GLADYS: Did you know that some of these quilts could be put between the box springs and the mattress? Lot of people do this, especially those who live in small homes and have limited storage space.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: Ever need an emergency slip cover for your sofa . . . the kind that makes a good double bed?

Try a fitted double sheet! It just fits and it's so easy to wash.

MRS. O.A.S.

HELOISE.

DEAR HELOISE: A good idea for busy mothers (and the more children, the better the idea) is to buy a recipe file. On the divider cards, list each child's name. On this card keep a record of all the illnesses, shots they have had and when, and other important information up to and including their marriage! I know there are baby books for this purpose but who keeps their baby books up? After the first baby, that is . . .

A file need not be as formal as a book and a mistake only means a fresh card. This card, with all the information, makes a nice gift to each child when he starts out on his own.

Salem Thinclads Whip Ravenna 81-37 For 7th Victory

Hutson Takes Both Dashes

Quakers In Annual County Meet Friday

By MARK W. MILLER
News Sports Editor

Salem, taking first place in every racing event, coasted to an easy 81-37 victory over Ravenna at Reilly Stadium Monday to remain unbeaten (7-0) in dual track and field competition this season.

Now the Quakers can concentrate on the 61st annual Columbiana County meet at East Palestine Friday.

Juniors Tim Hutson and Kirk Ritchie each won two events for the Red and Black.

Although its time has been more impressive in previous meets, Salem had to rally to capture the mile relay in 3:41.5 in the most interesting race of the afternoon.

Members of the unit were Art Spack, Gary Stoddard, Dave Coy and Tim Hutson.

Tom Pim won the 880-yard run in 2:05.4 for Salem, but he got plenty of opposition from teammate John Tarleton, who came in second in 2:05.6, and from the Ravens' Bill Jones, who was timed in 2:05.8.

Tim Hutson took both dashes. He sprinted to 10.5 seconds in the century and 23 flat in the 220-yard dash.

Tarleton had little trouble in romping to a 50-yard victory in the mile run in 4:43.4 seconds.

Ritchie continues to improve in the high hurdles. He was timed in 16.3 for the 120-yard timbers, and 21.8 in the 180-yard lows.

Larry Earley got one of his best throws of the season off in the shot when he heaved the iron ball 48 feet, 3 1/2 inches. He was not up to par in the discus throw, tossing the platter only 116 feet, while losing to Ted Sperry of Ravenna.

Tom Hutson and Coy furnished the fans with a close race in the 440-yard dash, running one two respectively in 53.1, and 53.6.

Dave Fleischer gave Salem about a three-yard lead in the first lap of the 880-yard relay and the Quakers continued to pull away for an easy first in 1:34.9.

Other members of the unit were Larry Scullion, Pete Noller and Tim Hutson.

Fans 13 Batters; Buc's Romp 4-2

Koufax Hurls LA To 2-1 Triumph

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

Sandy Koufax threw 39 strikes. Bob Gibson threw two beanballs and one bat. Koufax won. Gibson didn't. Moral: Strikes are more effective — and less expensive.

Koufax, making his first start since injuring his arm April 22, pitched the Los Angeles Dodgers to a 2-1, 10-inning victory over the Chicago Cubs Monday night, allowing only three hits and striking out 13 in an impressive return.

It was the 52nd time in his major league career that Koufax had struck out 10 or more in a game, leaving him only two 10-strikeout performances away from the record of 54 held by both Rube Waddell and Bob Feller.

Gibson, meanwhile, got involved in the first beanball incident of the season and drew an automatic $50 fine along with Philadelphia's Jack Baldschun. The St. Louis right-hander also left himself open for further action when he was ejected for throwing his bat toward the mound in the fourth inning.

Gibson threw two fast balls at the head of Phillies' pitcher Dennis Bennett in the third inning, apparently in retaliation for Bennett's decking the Cardinals' Julian Javier in the second inning. Gibson drew a warning from plate umpire Doug Harvey — and with it the automatic $50 fine.

Then, in the fourth, with Baldschun on the mound for the Phillies, Gibson was hit in the side by a pitch, and flipped his bat toward the mound. Baldschun immediately drew a warning and the automatic fine while Gibson drew a thumb from Harvey.

Gibson not only lost money — but a victory as well. When he left the Cardinals were leading 5-1 and won 9-2. Gibson, however did not qualify for the triumph because he didn't pitch the required five innings. Who got the easy victory? Lucky Roger Craig.

In other National League action, a fight broke out after Milwaukee had edged the New York Mets 2-1 behind Denny Lemaster's two-hit pitching. Willie Mays hit home run No. 10 in San Francisco's 3-2, 12-inning victory over Houston and Pittsburgh defeated Cincinnati 4-2.

Koufax had a one-hitter going until the eighth when Andre Rodgers tied the score 1-1 with a homer. The Dodgers won in the 10th when Dick Ellsworth, who allowed only eight hits, walked Dick Tracewski, hit Koufax on the foot with a pitch and then was touched for a single up the middle by Maury Wills.

Ken Boyer drove in four runs with a triple and two singles and Curt Flood, Carl Warwick and Tim McCarver collected homers in the Cardinals' victory over the Phillies. Warwick hit his homer, a two-run shot, on the first pitch after Gibson's bat-throwing incident, and Craig had little difficulty holding the 7-1 lead.

A Milwaukee, Lemaster gave up a leadoff homer to Charlie Smith in the first inning, then kept the Mets hitless until the ninth when Ron Hunt poked a one-out single. When Frank Thomas grounded out, Hunt raced around third and tried to score on the play. He was doubled up at home, where catcher Ed Bailey held onto the throw despite being knocked down by Hunt.

Bailey started to go after Hunt, but was restrained. However, Rod Kanehl of the Mets, who wasn't in the game, came off the bench and got involved in two short battles. He was jumped on by Len Gabrielson, then tangled with Gene Oliver before the umpires restored order.

Wagner Clouts Grand Slam Homer; Indians Roll 7-5

BOSTON (AP) — They call him 'Daddy Wags,' and he is wagging a big bat for the Cleveland Indians on their highly successful road trip. Leon Wagner lined a grand slam home run into the right field stands at Fenway Park Monday night to give the league-leading Cleveland Indians a 7-5 victory over the Boston Red Sox. That gave him five runs batted in for the night, boosting his RBI total to 19, tops in the league.

It was the eighth victory against three defeats on the road for the Indians, who return to Cleveland after today's game here.

Joe Azcue got credit for the other two Cleveland RBI's as the Indians garnered 11 hits off two Boston hurlers.

Dick Donovan went all the way for his second victory, although he was in trouble several times. The Red Sox got to him for nine hits, including a three-run homer by Bob Tillman and a ninth inning homer by Toy Coligiano.

The Indians jumped off to a quick lead, as leadoff batter Dick Howser singled, Vic Davalillo walked and Wagner slapped a single to center to score Howser. Then with one out, Azcue fled to Clinton in right field and Davalillo scooted home.

That lead was erased in the second by Tillman's homer into the left field screen.

The Indians tied it up in the sixth on a single by Wagner and Azcue's triple. Tito Francona opened the seventh with a single, but Donovan hit into a force play. Successive hits by Howser and Davalillo loaded the bases and set the stage for Wagner's grand slam homer off rookie Bill Spanwick, who started for Boston.

Pedro Ramos goes after his second victory today. Opposing him will be Dave Morehead (0-2).

JIM JACKSON took individual series honors 215-213-623. Paul Shane came in with 219-201-615; Dick Hahn, 224-218-613; John Balta, 233-223-602; George Mitchell, 221-599; Bill Pauline, 213-200-592; Jerry Smith, 203-583; Chuck Montgomery, 211-201-582; Mike Gallo, 213-200-580; Ray Thompson, 201-578; and Larry Felton, 231-577.

Other high games were rolled by Henry Dermotta, 231; Sam Jackson, 223; John Pridon, 220; George Nannah, 215; John Fast Jr. 214-201; Rudy Hrovatic, 212; Vince Malloy, 212; Joe Vogelhuber, 211; Bob Rockwell, 211; Jim Graybeal, 211; and Harold Paxson, 210.

Members of the City Cab unit are Ray Patterson, Rudy Mogart, Jerry Colazzi, John Pridon, Jackson and Tom Ehrhart, substitute.

The Koehler's unit is composed of Paul Scullion, Harold Wuchter, Ray Thompson, Paul Shone, Dick Hahn, and Chuck Huffer, substitute.

The circuit shots gave Colavito the American League lead and kept the horns tooting overtime. The A's have belted eight homers in the last three games and 24 in their 12 home games.

Colavito's first homer, with the bases empty in the fifth, gave Kansas City a 3-2 edge. He also connected in the eighth with Jim Gentile aboard, and Bill Bryan followed with another home run for the A's.

The victory nudged the A's to within one-half game of owner Charles Finley's No. 1 targets, the New York Yankees, who, along with the Detroit Tigers, were idle.

In other American League games, Chicago overcame two Bob Allison homers and beat Minnesota 10-5; Leon Wagner clubbed a grand-slam homer as Cleveland defeated Boston 7-4 and Baltimore exploded for an eight-run inning on just four hits while walloping Washington 11-4.

The Angels bounced back to tie the A's after Colavito's first homer. But Nelson Mathews doubled with one out in the seventh and came home with the go-ahead run when Pena stroked a clutch single.

The eighth-inning homers by Colavito and Bryan iced Pena's third victory in five decisions.

Orlando Pena can leave his bubble gum and crayons at home as long as Rocky Colavito keeps the horns tootin'.

The Kansas City hurler, who drew reprimands last week for his habit of blowing bubbles while pitching and marking his glove with crayons, beat the Los Angeles Angels 7-4 Monday night for the A's third straight victory.

Pena didn't have any of his playthings with him but he had Colavito and that was all he needed. The Rock crashed his seventh and eighth homers of the year, each time setting off the complicated system of lights and horns which greet each Athletic homer in Municipal Stadium.

The circuit shots gave Colavito the American League lead and kept the horns tooting overtime. The A's have belted eight homers in the last three games and 24 in their 12 home games.

OSU Captures Ohio College Golf Crown By 6 Strokes

By HAL PARIS
Associated Press Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State's balanced golf team came away with the championship in the Ohio Intercollegiate Golf Tournament Monday but a little fellow from the University of Dayton stole the show.

Jim Lipitska, a 5-foot-6, 120-pound swinger from South Bend, Ind., captured medalist honors with a 110 score for 27 holes.

The intercollegiate, traditionally a 36-hole tournament, had to be curtailed to 27 holes Monday because of the slow pace set in the morning round.

Ohio State Coach Bob Kepler, asked about the lengthy play, quipped:

"I think these kids have been watching too much television."

Lipitska, whose home is across the street from Notre Dame, was two strokes over par for the distance. But he was the only performer among the 165 competitors to crack par on Ohio State's tough 6,705-yard Scarlet layout in the morning round.

A senior majoring in accounting, Lipitska came home with a one-under 71 for the first 18 and held a three-stroke advantage heading into the final nine.

He fired a 39 to beat back the challenge of Don Marsh, a sophomore at Ohio State, who finished one stroke back at 111.

Marsh missed a chance for the title when he double-bogied on his final hole. At 112 was Barry Terjesen of Wooster College and a stroke behind him in a four-way deadlock for fourth spot were Stu Hughes of Bowling Green, Bruce Rotte of Cincinnati, Bob Little Jr., of Ohio University and Bill Schaub of Toledo.

Ohio State's best five scorers on its six-man squad totaled 578 strokes, six better than defending champion Ohio University.

The Buckeye shooters and their scores were Marsh, 111; Dick Stillwagon, 114; Mike Strapp, 117; John Timmons, 117; and Jim Brown 119.

Toledo with 587 was third and Kent State and Cincinnati wound up in a two-way tie for fifth place with 595.

Other schools finished in this order:

Bowling Green 599, Miami 607, Denison 614, Akron 616, Dayton 622, Youngstown 625, Kenyon 629, Ohio Wesleyan 631, Oberlin 632, Wittenberg 632, Wooster 635, Wilmington 635, Ohio Northern 638, Xavier 641, Hiram, 642, Otterbein 644, Muskingum 648, Rio Grande 662, Mount Union 666, Heidelberg 667, Defiance 670, Ashland 678 and Bluffton 698.

Leetonia Loses 84-34 To Wilson

Woodrow Wilson took first in 12 of 14 events to knock off Leetonia 84-34 in a dual track and field meet at the Bears den Monday.

It was the fourth loss in five starts for coach Carl Kokor and his aggregation.

The Bears will entertain West Branch Wednesday.

Marty Orr took the discus with a throw of 126 feet, 4 inches for the Bears, and Dennis Holloway was first in the 180-yard low hurdles.

Orr also got off his best heave in the shot put 43.3 but finished third. It was the first time this season he had been beaten.

Doug Hauer of Leetonia lost by two steps in the 880-yard run to Ted Babik of Wilson, who was timed in 2:10 for the distance.

Celtics Get Counts At ABL Draft

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Sports Writer NEW YORK (AP)—The Boston Celtics, who usually win when it counts, expect to be winning WITH Counts next season.

The Celtics were pleasantly surprised to find Mel Counts still available when it came their turn to make a first-round choice in the annual National Basketball Association draft Monday. They quickly grabbed off the 7-foot Oregon State center as a potential back-up man to Bill Russell.

Russell's present back-up man on the six-time champion Celtics is 34-year-old Clyde Lovellette, who is considering retirement. This obviously prompted the Celtics to go for the big man when their turn to pick came around.

Under the NBA rules, the team with the poorest won-lost record picks first, the best last. That gave the New York Knicks first choice, Boston last, with the others picking in reverse order of the standings.

"Counts can run like heck for a big guy," Boston Coach Red Auerbach said. "We would like to have had Joe Caldwell, but we're satisfied."

The draft actually started with Los Angeles and Cincinnati exercising territorial choices—a system that will be abandoned next year—in advance of the regular round of picks.

The Lakers picked All-American Walt Hazzard, backcourt play-maker ace of the NCAA champion UCLA Bruins, and the Royals chose 6-8 George Wilson of Cincinnati.

Jim (Bad News) Barnes of Texas Western was the first man selected by the Knicks in the regular draft. The 6-foot-8, 240-pounder averaged 29.1 points a game last season and was No. 5 among the nation's collegiate rebounders.

Detroit, which had the second pick, surprised by making the 6-5 Caldwell, a swift Arizona State standout, its No. 1 choice. The Pistons had been expected to go for height.

Baltimore picked Ohio State All-American Gary Bradds, Philadelphia took Lucious Jackson of Pan American, St. Louis went for Jeff Mullins of Duke, a member of the Olympic team, and San Francisco tapped Barry Kramer of NYU in the other first-round picks.

Salem Softball Loops To Start Season May 18

Both the Salem fast pitch and slo-pitch softball loops are scheduled to get under way the week of May 18, softball association president Jim Harrigan said today.

Seven teams have entered the two fast pitch leagues, while five units are in the church slo-pitch division.

Teams are still needed in all three brackets. Anyone interested should contact Dick Young-peter.

Kelley Field is ready for practice session for squads wanting to hold drills.

Practice sessions at Kelley Field can be scheduled during weekdays from 6 to 7:15 p.m.; Saturday's at 4 p.m., 5:30, 7 and 8, while units may drill Sunday's at 1 p.m., 2:30, 4, 5:30 and 7.

The field can be secured for workouts by contacting the Memorial Building.

Final meetings for the fast pitch and slo-pitch leagues will be held at the Memorial Building May 12 at 7:30 and 8:30 p.m. respectively.

Teams entered in fast pitch are Old Dutch, Salem Merchants, Salem Moose 571; Gold Bar, Willie's Bake Shop, Fernengel's Tavern and Charlie's Boats.

Presbyterian, Emmanuel Lutheran, First Friends, First Assembly of God and Phillips Christian have signed up for the Church League.

Packers Ink Hornung To 7th Contract

GREEN BAY, Wis. (AP)—It's official: The Golden Boy is back.

Quietly, without fanfare and in a very routine manner, the Green Bay Packers mailed out a short, prepared release today that Paul Hornung, their all-everything halfback, has signed for his seventh season in the National Football League.

Hornung, a three-time NFL scoring leader, sat out all of last year under suspension by Commissioner Pete Rozelle for betting on games. His was the biggest name involved in the NFL scandals of a year ago.

Both he and Alex Karras, Detroit Lion defensive tackle also under suspension, were reinstated last month.

"I don't expect to have any trouble coming back insofar as physical condition is concerned," Hornung said. "The biggest trouble should be in regaining my timing. I'll be working out with Bart Starr (Green Bay quarterback) and with his help I should be able to regain it."

No figures were mentioned in the routine release—which included Hornung's name with those of three other backs—but estimates of Hornung's salary were in the $25,000-$30,000 range about what he was receiving before the suspension.

The 28-year-old back led the league in scoring in 1919, 1960 and 1961, then missed about half of the 1962 season because of military service. He was still able to help the Packers to their second straight NFL championship.

When he was suspended last season, the Packers slipped to second in the Western Division behind league champion Chicago.

West Branch Golfers Defeat Salem 5-4

Deon Good shot a 2-under-par 34 to spark West Branch to a 5-4 victory over Salem in a golf match at Salem Golf Club Monday.

The Warriors chalked up their 13th win in 15 starts.

Dan Hendricks carded a 41, Dick Shreve, 47 and Jim Dearth, 52.

Tom Bauman led the Quakers with a 43. Ron Eichler came in with a 45, Wayne Washington, 46; and Skip Lou, 56.

44 Boys Sign Up For SJB League

A total of 44 boys from 6 to 9 years of age registered for the Morning League in the Salem Junior Baseball program and 8, while units may drill last Saturday.

Two other boys, 14 years old, signed for a berth on a Class F League team.

There are still openings for players in Class G (11 and 12 year olds) and Class F (13 and 14). Any boy in that age group wishing to be assigned to a team should contact Charles Matevi, Class G commissioner, or Ralph Mancuso, Class F commissioner.

Roger Tuel, Morning League commissioner, announced that another registration would be held next Saturday at 10 a.m. at Memorial Park for those who did not register last Saturday. It will be several weeks, however, before the instruction classes begin.

RACING TO VICTORY — Harold Abbott is at the helm of the powerboat Rumrunner as the craft speeds along at high speed in race from Miami to Nassau. Rumrunner covered the 164 nautical miles in 4 hours, 54 minutes and 50 seconds to win the rugged race.

Beaver Local Track Team Wins Meet

Roger Diddle took two firsts, a third and was a member of the winning 880-yard relay team to pace Beaver Local to an 85½-32½ victory over West Branch in a dual track and field meet at the Beavers' stadium Monday.

The Beavers picked up their sixth win in eight starts and will take on United today at 4:15 p.m.

John Mensch was the only athlete on the Warriors' squad to garner a first place. He took the high jump with a leap of 5 feet, 8 inches.

Bradley was a double winner for the Beavers. He took the high hurdles in 16.5, and the broad jump with a leap of 19 feet, 5¼ inches. He was third in the lows, and a member of the winning 880-yard relay team.

Some men never outgrow the need for a wagon

A wagon has a way with men. Always has. Always will. Especially when it's a Dodge Wagon. Case in point: that Polara shown above. As rugged and handsome a carryall as you've ever laid hands on. Inside—saddle-grained vinyl that resists cracking, scuffing, shrinking, stretching. Hand-fitted carpeting on the floor. A center armrest in front that snaps down solidly under your arm. And there's room. Big, open room you can cram to the roof. Seating for six or nine passengers. And underhood—a choice of engines ranging from a frisky Six to an optional, rip-snortin' 426 cubic inch V8. It's a tough combination to beat.

Look 'em over at your Dodge Dealer's. The wagons that have a way with men—Dodge Wagons. Man-sized. Man-powered. Eight versions to pick from. (And you might as well bring along your better half. Seems the gals prefer the big, strong, silent type, too.)

Chinese-Inspired Book Blisters Khrushchev

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

A Chinese-inspired book circulating in Asia levels sensational charges against Soviet Premier Khrushchev and illuminates the monumental Moscow - Peking battle for domination of revolutionary movements in the underdeveloped world.

Bursting with anti-Khrushchev fury, the book accuses the Soviet leader of such things as plotting against Fidel Castro's regime in Cuba and advocating abandonment of the Communist struggle to take over South Viet Nam and Laos in Southeast Asia.

The charges and documentation could have come only from Peking. With Moscow's latest laing to freeze the Soviet Union ing to freeze he Soviet Union out of Asia, indications are that the dispute has gone past the point of no return and that the breaking point is near.

The book was published in Ceylon late last year. It was written in English by Theja Gunawardana, a Ceylonese Communist leader who is active in the "Afro-Asian solidarity" movement. Its text indicates it was virtually dictated by the Chinese. The title of the book is Khrushchevism.

Here are a few of the accusations against Khrushchev: —That he made a deal with President John F. Kennedy for "20 years of peace" and pledged not to support violent revolutions.

—That he deliberately built up the October 1962 missile crisis to humiliate Fidel Castro so that the Cuban regime would be overthrown in favor of Moscow-trained Communists.

—That he sent agents to Peking to foment trouble between Chinese and Africans, particularly in the university.

—That he plotted the Hungarian uprising in 1956 in a deal with Yugoslav President Tito, only to have it backfire into full-blown revolution.

—That he bludgeoned Communist-ruled nations with threats of economic reprisals so they would toe his line. The book said he threatened to boycott the sugar of one nation (obviously Cuba) and that he threatened to expel others from the Communist family, hinting that those threatened were Romania and North Viet Nam or North Korea.

abandonment of collectivization. —That Khrushchev had to purge Czechoslovak and East German Communist leaders for opposing his line.

—That he bled Red China for repayment of every ruble loaned for the prosecution of the Korean war.

The book, citing little-known documents which must have been supplied by the Red Chinese, goes far back in the history of the Moscow-Peking dispute to portray "flea-bitten Khrushchev" as an "adventurist, opportunist, traitor, manipulator, stage manager — all of which produce the modern revisionist."

The author, once again seeming to echo Peking, predicts that Romania will be the next European Communist nation to join Albania in breaking away from the Khrushchev camp. He says Romanian Communist chief Gheorghe Gheorgiu-Dej "is a brave man, and the world will soon see the Romanian Peoples Republic also proving its national sovereignty."

Since the book was published, Romanian leaders have traveled to Peking and have been pictured in the forefront of efforts to soft-pedal the Moscow-Peking dispute. But Gheorgiu-Dej did fail to show up at a round of Khrushchev meetings recently with satellite leaders.

Senate Starts 48th Day on Rights Issue

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top Senate leaders of both parties arranged to confer with Justice Department officials today in an effort to agree on amendments to the House-passed civil rights bill.

"We are going to take a look at the whole package of amendments and see where we can strike an area of agreement," Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said.

With the Senate starting the 48th day of its civil rights debate, Dirksen said the time had come to find out "where we stand."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, assistant Democratic leader and floor manager of the bill, said he was looking for an agreement that would make it possible to get the two-thirds majority necessary to choke off a filibuster by Southern opponents of the bill.

As of now proponents of the bill concede they are short of the required votes—67 if all 100 senators vote.

France Blocks Tariff Move

Trade Talks Under Way In Geneva

GENEVA (AP) — President Charles de Gaulle's France today was blocking a move to declare a 50 per cent cut in tariffs as the official goal of the Kennedy Round negotiations to break down international trade barriers.

This is the maximum cut that can be made under the U.S. Trade Expansion Act put through by President John F. Kennedy in 1962.

France is unwilling to pledge itself to this figure even though it is a goal that the 75 nations in the talks are unlikely to achieve.

Some French industrialists fear a sharp lowering of tariffs will expose them to competition they can't meet. Preliminary work on the Kennedy Round has been in progress for more than a year. The talks opened officially Monday with speeches by representatives of the leading countries involved including former Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, President Johnson's chief negotiator.

Valery Giscard d'Estaing, De Gaulle's minister of finance and economics, also was present. Authoritative sources said he was the key figure in meetings of the representatives of the European Common Market, which includes West Germany, Italy, Belgium, the Netherlands and Luxembourg as well as France.

The Common Market and the United States are the two giants of the Kennedy Round. Its success depends on agreement between them.

Leading figures at the session agreed that little or nothing could be done in the two or three days of top-level meetings this week.

I will be at least a year, and probably more, before the Kennedy Round produces any binding agreements.

But there is strong hope that this meeting will result in at least a statement of the 50 per cent goal. There also is expectation that Sept. 10 will be set as the deadline for submitting lists of exceptions—items on which participating countries will not accept across-the-board tariff cuts but will insist on negotiating separately.

At closed meetings of the Common Market countries that lasted late into the night, authoritative sources said the French held out against both these points.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT
Health Questions And Answers

Q—About three years ago I a complication of a number of was operated on for a hernia. About six months ago it came back and I have been wearing a truss ever since. I am 60 and don't want another operation if I can help it.

Dr. Brandstadt

A — Every surgeon in repairing a rupture tries to insure that it will not recur but this sometimes happens even with the best of surgery. The only danger involved with this type of hernia is strangulation — the locking of a segment of intestine in the hernial sac. If your hernia slips back in place easily when you lie on your back and if your truss keeps it from protruding when you are up, there is no harm in treating it in this way.

Q—Is a yeast infection contagious? What would the symptoms be? My doctor says I have a yeast diarrhea. Does this kind of infection come back after it is cured?

A—There are at least 15 kinds of yeast or fungus that may cause disease in man, but none of these diseases primarily attacks the intestines. Some attack the skin; others the lungs or the brain. Diarrhea could be

A complication of a number of fungus diseases. They vary widely in the degree of contagiousness.

Q—A friend of mine has blood in his urine all the time. Is this because he is an alcoholic?

A—This is always a sign of serious trouble. Alcohol is not a cause but your friend should have a doctor find the true cause without delay.

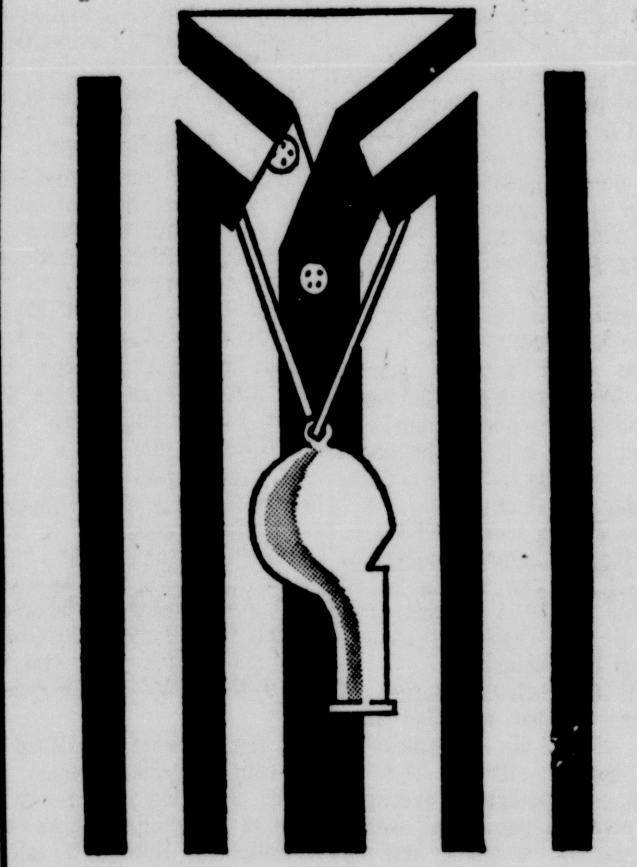

Q—I read where a woman was nearly blind and she took Hetrazan and was cured. Where could I get this drug?

A—It is true that diethylcarbamazine (Hetrazan) can save the sight of a person whose eye involvement is due to the tropical parasitic disease, onchocerciasis. It would be of no value in persons with any other kind of eye disease.

Q—My nephew, 52, had a blood tumor removed about seven years ago. It seems to be coming back. What should he do now?

A—Your nephew should be examined to determine whether he is having a return of the same condition or whether a different kind of tumor is developing. In either case it would seem wise to have it removed completely.

Man Bound Over on Burglary Charge

LISBON — John Cook, 24, Canton, was bound over to the grand jury Monday afternoon by County Judge James L. MacDonald for burglary of an uninhabited dwelling.
Cook was charged by Constable Roy Painter of Hanover Township and Constable Forrest Young of Franklin Township. The Canton man allegedly entered the cottage of Margaret Chehan of Louisville at Guilford Lake, taking fishing equipment and a clock radio.
Bond was set at $1,000, and Cook is confined to the county jail in lieu of bond.

Retired Workers to Meet At CIO Hall

Our restaurant section is getting to be a very busy place, especially on weekends.

If you could get here earlier in the week we could give you faster service. From Monday through Thursday you will always find a seat. I don't like to see people have to wait very long to get served, but until we get a larger kitchen and more dining area, there will be times when they may not get the fastest service on weekends.

I don't like to stop advertising so I will keep asking for more business earlier in the week.

Water Problem Is Acute

Nation Needs to Go On Massive Fluid Diet --- Now

NATION IN A LATHER — Billowing suds, a product of waste detergents, coats Lake Erie, off Erie, Pa. Many communities draw their water from this great inland sea.

(Last of Two Dispatches.)
By TOM NOLAN

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Early in April, the Senate Subcommittee on Western Water Development began evaluating a mammoth proposal to divert water from Alaskan rivers through Canada to the southwestern and midwestern United States. This is the distance from Sweden to Egypt.

This could fit hand-in-hand with a Corps of Engineers project now on the drawing boards to build the largest dam in North America at Rampart Rapids on the Yukon River in north-central Alaska. The Rampart dam would create a reservoir slightly larger than Lake Erie, the 12th largest inland body of water on earth.

The striking note about these two $100 billion proposals is not their size, but the fact they're even being considered.

"Desperation breeds daring," says one of the country's leading hydrologists. "Most of the people in the nation couldn't care less about our water shortage problem. But in 20 years it could be acute enough to take a giant-size project like Rampart to cure it."

Americans have always taken for granted that the United States was blessed with a cheap, plentiful water supply. New demands for expanding industry and population, coupled with an unwarranted abuse of water and streams by pollution, should smash this smug attitude.

Industry, homes and farms already use over 300 billion gallons daily. This figure will triple by the time that today's children are buying their own homes.

BUILDING THE DAMS and reservoirs to accommodate needed water is simple compared to the problem of acquiring the land to act as a giant saucer. Particularly in New England and the Middle years—it is difficult to persuade families to give up their homes to build a dam.

The late Sen. Robert S. Kerr, D-Okla., was concerned about apparent public indifference to the water pollution problem. Shortly before his death, he told a banquet audience:

"I believe that if most of you got an analysis of the water you drink, you would be shocked and uneasy. The result might even drive you to drink—but not water."

One group which is not indifferent to water problems is the National Rivers and Harbors Congress, a non-profit, nonpartisan national group which has been lobbying for an effective water policy for 63 years.

In the past, this group has had considerable success in creating awareness of water problems by local communities.

SEVERAL CITIES have developed water conservation systems on their own. In 1957 when water was selling at 50 cents for a half-gallon carton after a six-year drought, Dallas citizens backed a water plan to build lakes and dams, complete with modern pump lines and pumping stations.

Water rates rose 34 per cent, but during last summer's severe drought, no restrictions were placed on water usage despite a record consumption.

In Culpeper, Va.,—where a young surveyor named George Washington first predicted water problems in 1749—landowners worked together for five years to build three small dams on nearby streams to hold back flood waters and provide reservoirs in time of drought.

The two gigantic Alaska plans would approach the problem on a national level. The first, proposed by Ralph M. Parsons Co., Los Angeles engineers and constructors, would collect surplus water from rivers in Alaska and northwestern Canada and redistribute it to the United States, Canada and Mexico through a system of canals, tunnels and aqueducts.

But, in the meantime, the Corps of Engineers is trying to solve some of the more urgent, short-range water problems in the nation. Following are the most pressing, by area:

NEW ENGLAND: Flood control in the southern part, where rivers and streams are unusally narrow-bedded; also, expansion of navigation facilities in coastal harbors.

MIDDLE ATLANTIC: Projected future water shortage for seaboard area, estimated to be "megalopolis" by the year 2000. Studies now in progress on Susquehanna and Potomac Rivers as source of extra water. Construction already started on similar projects on Delaware River.

SOUTH: Projected shortage of water for industrial needs in Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama; expansion of navigation facilities, such as Trans-Florida Barge Canal, Texas Gulf Intracoastal Waterway, and Chattahoochee River.

MIDWEST: Flood control on Ohio and Illinois Rivers; sewage disposal in Chicago.

PLAINS STATES: Projected water shortage for irrigation; pollution abatement needed on Missouri River.

ROCKY MOUNTAINS: Projected water shortage for both irrigation and hydroelectric power.

SOUTHWEST: Current water shortage for booming metropolitan areas of Los Angeles, Phoenix, Tucson.

NORTHWEST: Projected water shortage for hydroelectric power.

West Branch Junior High School Band will present the annual spring concert Saturday at 8 p.m. in the Junior High School gymnasium. The industrial arts, home economics and art departments will have projects on display.

Mrs. Robert Cline, Mrs. Anna Cramer, Mrs. C. A. Malmsberry, Mrs. Robert Withers, Mrs. Paul Wallace, Mrs. Robert Hoffman and Mrs. Nello Arsuffi attended Home Achievement Day in Youngstown.

Rev. Chester Stanley attended Adrian Quarterly Meeting at Tecumseh, Mich. He was accompanied by Rev. Herbert Haldy who visited his sisters, Mrs. Olive Tomlinson and Mr. and Mrs. Amos Wilson.

THE RECITAL of the pupils of Mrs. Chester Stanley was held in the Friends Church.

Girls were presented corsages, and boys were presented boutonnieres by Mrs. Stanley. The group presented Mrs. Stanley a corsage of carnations and baby breath. Lunch with yellow and green appointments was served at Mrs. Stanley's home with the 12 pupils and their families in attendance. Mrs. Frank Denny and Miss Kendra Phillips assisted in serving. Rev. Chester Stanley offered the invocation.
